Group of Business Men To Study Conditions in Soviet Regions.

Moscow, July 17.—(AP)—An American delegation of 90 businessmen, lawyers, engineers and newspaper editors arrived here this morning from Berlin by special train for a 30-day inspection tour in Russia. Some of them were accompanied by their wives and families.

The delegation, which is traveling under the auspices of the American-Russian Chambers of Commerce and the American Express Company, was met at the Aleksandrovsky station by representatives of the Western Chamber of Commerce and Russian authorities.

Several hundred men and women crowded the platform to see the Americans arrive. Russian promoters of the trip hoped it may prove the precursor of new and bigger business relations between the United States and Soviet Russia.

After a brief chat with representatives of the Russian and foreign press the Americans proceeded to the Grand hotel, where they will live while in Moscow.

The party represented almost every state in the Union and included 24 women.

MENACE OF MERGERS IS SCORED BY EDWARDS

Springfield, Ga., July 17.—(AP)—Trends toward mergers and combinations in business brought a warning from Congressman Charles E. Edwards, speaking here today, that "the people must use every means at their command to combat the money trusts."

He spoke at a picnic and annual meeting of Effingham county farmers and discussed, primarily, the federal farm relief bill, recently enacted from Congress. He contended, however, the prosperity of business to the plight of agriculture and made a plea that the government hasten benefits to the farmers.

Many Mergers.

"On every hand today we see and hear of merger after merger and of combinations of great wealth until alarms are being sounded against the dangers that threaten," Congressman Edwards declared.

"We need a Jackson or a Theodore Roosevelt to use a big stick as this president did when the rising tide of great combinations threatened the fundamentals of our republic. These movements must be viewed with serious concern and the people must use every means at their command to combat the money trusts which fix interest rates and controls the situation as to whether we will have 'good times' or 'tight times.'"

Congressman Edwards declared that mergers and combinations are going along at such a rapid rate "that today it is estimated that the wealth of the nation—the richest government in the world—is absolutely owned and controlled by only five per cent of the people out of our total of approximately 123,000,000 population."

Must Be Checked.

"The thing must be checked, for the moneyed people are dictating not only our financial policies, but the affairs of this government and will more and more to do so as the years go by, unless we halt this thing that will lead us into such a plutocracy a world has never seen."

"I think there is sufficient rebel spirit in the American citizens, however, that sooner or later the people will awake to the fact that this is a government of big interests, for big interests and by big interests, and they will rebel and redeem it and make of it, as it ever should be, a government of the people, for the people and by the people."

TWO GIANT OCEAN LINERS PLANNED FOR U. S. LINES

S. S. Leviathan, July 17.—(AP)—Construction of two new giant ocean liners, each to cost $25,000,000, for the United States Lines will be started early in 1930, Joseph E. Shedy, president of the operating corporation of the lines, announced today.

The keels will be laid in Philadelphia, Newport News or Camden, N. J. The contract under which Paul W. Chapman, banker, recently took over the United States lines from the government calls for their completion within three years.

The ships will resemble the Leviathan, flagship of the United States Lines and formerly the German Ship Vaterland. Both will be slightly longer than the Leviathan, measuring 665 feet in length, 56,000 tons displacement, and a passenger capacity of 4,000. The vessels already have been designed.

The announcement was made by Mr. Shedy as the Leviathan carrying Paul W. Chapman, president of the United States Lines Corporation, and more than 500 guests neared Boston for the liner's semi-annual overhauling in dock. Shedy said the policy of the company will be to build one new ship each year to keep the American merchant marine up to the standards established by any foreign competitor.

EAST POINT GIRL WOUNDS HERSELF TOYING WITH GUN

Ruby Watkins, 13, daughter of L. E. Watkins, of 516 Lester street, East Point, was in the Grady hospital Wednesday night as a result of a self-inflicted wound in her left thigh while playing with her father's pistol at home late that afternoon.

According to attendants at the hospital her condition is not regarded as serious unless complications set in. While the family was in the front of the house on the porch the little girl was alone in her room playing with the .22 caliber revolver when it accidentally was discharged, according to hospital report.

Ruby was rushed to the hospital in an ambulance of Hemperley & Son.

DUTY ON DIAMONDS SUBJECT OF SPEECH BY R. C. SCHNEIDER

Macon, Ga., July 17.—(AP)—The diamond duty and the competition of department stores, specialty shops and drug stores are the two major problems facing the jeweler, in the opinion of R. C. Schneider, of Atlanta, president of the Georgia Retail Jewelers' Association.

Addressing the opening session of the tenth annual convention of the association yesterday, Mr. Schneider declared, "Nationally, the problem of diamond duty, as it now stands invites the smuggling of diamonds to the almost complete demoralization of this important branch of the jewelry industry."

He said drug stores, specialty shops and department stores gradually are taking away the exclusive trade the jeweler once enjoyed.

William G. Frazier, president of the American National Retail Jewelers' Association, was expected to address the convention today. The speaking program will be followed by election of officers.

CONDEMNED MAN AWAITS FINAL RULE ON PLEA FOR LIFE

Waycross, Ga., July 17.—(Special.) Lester Chancey, who has been re-sentenced by Judge W. R. Smith, of the Atlanta circuit, to die in the electric chair on July 26, after the state supreme court had denied new hearing in the case, is awaiting action of the state prison commission. He has asked, through his attorneys, that his death sentence be commuted to life imprisonment.

Chancey is under the supreme sentence for the murder of Ruby Lee Anderson, his 10-year-old sister-in-law, and is under indictment also for the murder of Jim Lee and for shooting and seriously injuring his own wife.

Chancey is in the Clinch county jail at Homerville, having asked that he be allowed to remain in his own home county as long as possible before being carried to Milledgeville where the execution is scheduled to take place in little more than a week.

POISONED BUTTERMILK BLAMED FOR 4 DEATHS

Tin Bucket Poisoned Milk, State Health Officials Believe.

Clarksville, Tenn., July 17.—(AP)—The Tennessee department of health today began an investigation into the death of four members of one family at Arlington in Houston county, who died in agony after drinking buttermilk from a tin bucket.

The milk was drunk last Friday and Odessa Hamilton, 8, and Pauline, 4, died Sunday; Ewing Hamilton, the father, and his 6-year-old son, Ercal, died last night.

Doctors who attended the family were convinced the poison was natural and county authorities did not suspect foul play. Mrs. Hamilton and an infant were the only members of the family who did not drink the milk.

The family's supper Friday night was blackberries and buttermilk. Doctors advanced a theory that the combination might have caused the death.

The state department of health ordered one of its physicians to go to Arlington today and examine the tin bucket in which the milk was kept several hours. None of the milk was available for an analysis. The four died in intense pain, and doctors agreed it was from poison. They said it probably was "tin poison."

COMMISSION TACKLES TAX PROBLEM TODAY

Special Meeting Is Called for This Afternoon by Moore.

Solution of Atlanta's tax problem with a view of securing an equitable levy of "intangibles" and increasing the city's revenue is the object of a session of a special tax commission which will meet at 3 o'clock this afternoon at the city hall.

Councilman Wiley L. Moore, of the seventh ward and chairman of the commission, will preside. He issued the call.

Whatever the finds of the commission are, legislative action probably will be necessary to place them into effect and the commission will hasten its studies with a view of submitting its recommendations to the assembly in time for action at this session.

Mayor J. N. Ragsdale named the commission after city council had passed a resolution requesting him to do so. It was decided that a comprehensive study would be necessary after the finance committee of city council rejected several sweeping and radical proposals which it was said would react to detriment of investors because of the high rate of taxation which they proposed.

Other members of the commission in addition to Mr. Moore are: Aldermen J. C. Murphy and E. A. Gilliam, representing the city government; Ryburn Clay, T. K. Glenn, W. B. Spann, representing the bankers; J. P. Allen, B. M. Grant and Clyde J. King, representing the business interests.

Robt. A. Srate
prominent business leader, who declares Sargon has made a well man of him after ten years' suffering and increased his weight 16 pounds.

"I suffered 10 years with as bad a case of stomach trouble as any man ever had. I was advised to have an operation, but I wouldn't consent. My whole system was filled with poisons. I would wake up mornings dazed, and my back ached so I could hardly get out of bed. I was badly rundown, my skin was an unhealthy color and I didn't seem to have any strength or energy.

"Five bottles of Sargon made a well man of me! I gained 16 pounds and have as much strength and vitality as I had 20 years ago. Sargon Soft Mass Pills regulated me perfectly."

Robt. A. Srate, owner of the Bakery Equipment Co., Oklahoma City.

Sargon has become a household word from coast to coast and sales of the new medicine continue to increase as new tests of its powers are made.

A special Sargon representative is explaining the merits of this new medicine to hundreds of people daily at Jacobs' main store, 6 and 8 Marietta St. Sargon may also be obtained at all Jacobs' drug stores throughout Atlanta. (adv.)

Little Cripples To See Capitol Program Today

Man ya happy little heart will beat fast above a twisted and crippled leg today as the tiny unfortunate of the Scottish Rite hospital "step out" on a party.

This week the Atlanta Masonic Club is conducting its annual appeal for a fund to supply the little cripples with a daily diet of pure, health-building milk to supplement their surgical treatment. The drive is being conducted at Loew's Capitol theater, with a big "kiddie revue," a talkie play for donations and a host of society girls of the P. P. Club on hand to receive contributions.

Everybody's having a big time working for and giving to the little boys and girls who are getting their chance in life through the generosity of those more fortunate than they. In fact, everybody is having such a big time putting the charity fund over, that the Masonic Club decided Wednesday at its meeting at the Wineoff hotel that the little cripples should go on the fun, too.

So a big Belle Isle will bring over one of the tots who can leave the hospital to the Capitol at 12:30 o'clock today, and the first row of seats will be reserved for the beneficiaries of the campaign.

Stage performers will put an extra dash into their acts, just to bring smiles to little faces that know the pinch of pain and the hunger of love.

The war department today approved revised plans of the board of revenue and road commissioners of Mobile county, Alabama, for a bridge to be constructed across Chickasaw creek, near Mobile, Ala., 20 1/2 foot spans to take care of flood conditions at the bridge site.

The war department also approved the request of the county commissioners of Chatham county, Georgia, to relieve them of the necessity of maintaining a draw tender in constant attendance at the county bridge across Richardson creek, Georgia, connecting Oakland and Whitmarsh islands.

Allotment of $115,000 for improvements on the Tennessee river between Browns Island and Riverton, Tenn., under the rivers and harbors act was announced today by the war department.

One of the principal speakers of the day was Charles H. Fudge, of Charlotte, N. C., retiring president. A. S. Wynn, of Birmingham, Ala., responded to the mayor's address.

In the morning session today Walter C. Hughes will be a principal speaker while other men prominent in the confection business are expected to participate in the platform activities. Hastings, editor of the Trestle Board and publicity director of the Atlanta-Baltimore hotel; Miss Emily Woodward, president of the Georgia Press Association; and J. J. Thompson, editor of the Carroll County Times, who left Wednesday night to attend the annual convention in Cheyenne, Wyo.

A carload of Georgia watermelons has been ordered for a watermelon contest with which the Georgia representatives will introduce the convention to one of the many advantages of convening in Atlanta in 1930.

Should the contest be held in Atlanta it is felt it would be one of the best means of spreading good will for the south as the membership of the association includes editors of newspapers from all over the country.

Miss Woodward has been asked to present the invitation from Atlanta as well as address the convention.

CLEVELAND EDITORS GET STAY OF EXECUTION

Sentenced for Contempt, Appeal Postpones Serving of Sentences.

Cleveland, Ohio, July 17.—(AP)—Louis B. Seltzer, editor of the Cleveland Press, and Carlton K. Matson, chief editorial writer, were given a stay of execution today by Appellate Judge Willis Vickery after Common Pleas Judge Frederick P. Walther had held them in contempt of court and ordered them to serve 30 days in the county jail and pay fines of $500 each.

The appeal, filed by Baker on grounds of error, will not be heard for six or seven months unless a motion is made to advance it ahead of the regular order, Judge Vickery said.

Seltzer and Matson were permitted to leave the jail, where they had been formally booked as prisoners. They issued the following statement: "Sometimes situations arise in fighting for a principle when a hazard must be taken.

"This is a plain case of freedom of the press to criticize court orders it regards as unlawful. The order, which is the crux of this case, was an order which purported to restrain an officer of the law from doing his sworn duty.

"We criticized that order. We knew when we did it that there was a hazard. The court's citation followed.

"Thirty days in jail and a fine of $500 is a small price to pay, if such a price must be paid in the contempt involving such a principle."

ONE-TIME SLAVES HOLD SESSION AT BIRMINGHAM

Birmingham, Ala., July 17.—(AP)—A large number of former slaves were in convention at the Industrial High school on the outskirts of the city today, the principal business before the organization being the singing, over and over of plantation songs with which they lightened the tedium of their toil for the masters in ante-bellum days. They came from all states of the old south, many of them at the expense of white friends.

Many of the negroes, old and bent, from the passing of the years, could not participate in festivities requiring physical exertion and in lieu of doing duty in the chanting of spirituals.

But the least of the attractions, the negroes was a sumptuous barbecue, prepared under their personal supervision, which was spread "on the grounds" at noon.

Rev. Dr. J. A. Bryan, Presbyterian minister, and Dr. Frank Willis Barnett, of the Birmingham News-Age Herald editorial staff, addressed the negroes today.

15 BANKS IN FLORIDA CLOSED WEDNESDAY

Federal Reserve in Atlanta Sends $1,000,000 to Tampa to Stop Runs.

Tampa, Fla., July 17.—(AP)—Failure of 15 state banks in southwest Florida today with aggregate deposits of more than $22,500,000 was regarded by State Comptroller Ernest Amos tonight as being the "darkest hour just before the dawn."

In a statement to the Associated Press, Comptroller Amos said he believed the primary cause of the failures was "unnecessary withdrawals, panics and the mental attitude of the people."

"There is a financial depression to a certain degree everywhere in the state," the comptroller explained, "which has been accentuated by the effect of the Mediterranean fruit fly and quarantine. I regard this as the primary cause of the failures, however, if the people will not tear down the temple upon their own heads. This is what they are doing now."

Aggregate capital stock of the 15 financial institutions which closed today, according to figures at the state banking department, was $3,630,000; deposits $22,575,728.97, and assets $28,641,366.68.

Names of the defunct institutions, which were placed in the hands of the state bank department today, are: Citizens Bank and Trust Company, Tampa.

Franklin Bank, Tampa.

Citizens Bank of Fort Pierce, Fort Pierce.

American State Bank, Tampa.

Citizens Bank and Trust Company, Tampa.

Bank of Ybor City, Ybor City.

Bank of Plant City, Plant City.

Bradenton Bank and Trust Company, Bradenton.

First Bank and Trust Company, Sarasota.

First State Bank, Fort Meade.

Bank of Pasco County, Dade City.

Citizens Bank of Fort Pierce, Fort Pierce.

First Bank of Port Tampa City, Bank of Mulberry, Mulberry.

Ellenton State Bank, Ellenton.

Affiliated with Citizens Bank at Tampa.

Eight other banks have failed in Florida in the past two weeks, bringing the total number of failures within that time to 23.

Directors of the Citizens bank predicted that all depositors would be paid in full, but that its subsidiaries would go out of business.

To bolster up public confidence, $1,000,000 in cash was brought here by airplane today from Atlanta and delivered to the First National Bank of Tampa, a member of the federal reserve.

Cred Taylor, deputy governor of the federal reserve bank at Atlanta, who arrived here today, also declared that local bankers could "have all the money they need with which to meet the situation."

Advices from Washington stated that the shipment of $1,000,000 from Atlanta to Tampa was said by federal reserve officials to have been sent under authorization by the board for establishment of new currency deposits in Florida, one at Tampa and one at Miami, in each of which a million dollars would be kept for quick use by the member banks.

PLAN FOR RELIEF ADVANCED BY PA. GOV.

Daytona Beach, Fla., July 17.—(AP) A plan to relieve the immediate cash needs of small depositors, whose funds were tied up in the failure of the Merchants Bank and Trust Company and the Atlantic Bank and Trust Company here, was announced today by the News-Journal, an afternoon daily newspaper, of which Herbert M. Davidson is editor.

The plan embraced the formation of a News-Journal depositors' relief fund, which has been made available for the advancement to needy persons, whose checking accounts, before the failure of the two institutions, were not less than $50 or more than $250 of ten per cent of the amount tied up.

FLORIDA COMPTROLLER ISSUES STATEMENT

Tallahassee, Fla., July 17.—(AP)—State Comptroller Ernest Amos tonight issued the following statement regarding recent bank failures within the state.

"Propaganda, probably originated by selfish interests, and circulated for several weeks, has been the cause of a situation in south Florida was one of the reasons for the disturbance which culminated today in the closing of 15 banks.

"However, the primary cause of the failures has been heavy withdrawals, in some instances reaching the stage of excited runs. The general business depression, the Mediterranean fruit fly and occasional bank failures have all tended to break down the confidence of the people in banking institutions, and have driven a good deal of money into hiding that should be in banks, supplying the blood stream of trade.

"The flurry we have had today is perhaps the largest we have had in the history of the state, but I look on it as the darkest hour that comes just before dawn. Property values are still here in Florida. While there has been no market, we have the same soil, the same sunshine and the same purposeful people who will take hold with renewed vigor as soon as they realize that the skies have cleared in the financial circles of the state.

"With all these bank failures Florida still has more money left in banks than some of our sister states. As an instance of unprecedented withdrawals, the sum of $750,000 was taken out of the Citizens Bank of Tampa in one day.

"The Volusia County Bank of DeLand had $700,000 of new funds and the Merchants Bank of Daytona Beach had secured $500,000 of new funds, which, under ordinary circumstances, would have been sufficient to have carried them through the summer.

"Confiscation of fruit made it impossible for them to meet their obligations to the banks."

WEALTHY CONTRACTOR PLANS OWN KINGDOM

California Coast Scene of Possible New Land, Pumped on Rock Shelf.

Cleveland, Ohio, July 17.—(AP)—M. F. Bramley, who dreamed of an unknown island off the California coast and later discovered it as a reef lying beneath the water, has visions of raising the surface and creating on the new land an independent kingdom in which he will be supreme power, he said today.

Bramley, who is a contractor, returned yesterday from a cruise in Pacific waters in his yacht "Perry," on which he surveyed the boundaries of the reef and made preliminary estimates of the cost of creating the island. This could be done, he said, by building a breakway and pumping in sand from the ocean. The reef is 20 feet below the surface, he said, 15 feet lower than he had believed and the costs might be prohibitive. He returned while a final estimate is being made.

The visionary explorer had a romantic tale to narrate of his island. It is charted as Cortez reef, he said, and is a part of the sunken continent of Mu. Inhabitants of this continent escaped, he declared, and are believed to be the mysterious tribe of white Indians of Guatemalan legend. The inner and highest part of the reef is 700 feet long, 450 feet wide at one end and 200 feet wide at the other. The area was marked off with buoys.

Bramley said he supposed he would have to renounce American citizenship to establish his kingdom, but added that he would not oppose any move by the United States government to claim the land if the island is built.

He already has a navy in his yacht, a craft with a colorful history of its own. It was used by Commodore Petary on Arctic expeditions, and was bought by Bramley last year.

SIX-CENT GAS TAX URGED BY GOVERNOR

not require any constitutional amendment. Your capital has been occupied for 40 years on the 15th of June, past, and the deterioration is plain to be seen by everyone who will inspect it; and very little attention, comparatively speaking, has been given to the upkeep of the building. The governor has secured two expert architects to inspect and provide plans and statements for your information, which has cost the state nothing; and they state that the present capital building, if constructed new today, would cost from $2,500,000 to $2,850,000, and with the deterioration going on, it would be of little value in 10 years more. Today they estimate that this building, completing the first story and putting it into first-class condition, would cost from $200,000 to $250,000, one-fourth of which would give sufficient funds to properly improve and equip the present capital, there would be left the least a half million dollars to go to other uses of our departments—to education, buildings, or other purposes; and I recommend that the governor's commission on state government legislation as will put our capital in good condition.

Gift of the Rhodes Property.
The heirs of the late A. G. Rhodes estate, Joseph D. Rhodes and Mrs. Louanna Rhodes Bricker, have made a wonderful gift to the state of Georgia, in what is known as the Rhodes residence, at Peachtree and Seventeenth streets, through the state historical commission, and it has been accepted subject to your approval. This building, which has been named the Rhodes Memorial Hall, has already beautiful memorial windows portraying the history of the War Between the States; and it is donated for the purpose of keeping records of archives and history of this state, which will relieve some of the congested space in the capital at present. With the use of this building and the improvement suggested to be made on the capital, we would have sufficient room, under the new plan of reorganization, to take care of our needs for several years.

"After the investigation of the building, and the titles to the property, if the same is satisfactory, I recommend the acceptance of this building for the uses as above named."

The Opposite Time.
"It appears to the chief executive of this state that it is especially fitting at this time that you enact into law a bill, or such modification as you find wise, that is presented to you by the governor's commission on state government; and at the same time complete and improve the Capitol, that it will be suitable for the departments suggested to you by this commission."

"It seems also that the magnificent gift that has come to the state from the Rhodes heirs would also give us space that could properly be used for the state library; that the library and the department of archives and history could be removed to the Rhodes building during the improvements at the capital."

"What a contribution it would be for Georgia to provide the new organization—in connection with the Capitol, and to come into possession of this magnificent stone Rhodes building for our department of archives and history."

Highway Department.
"Second: It is necessary and very important in order that the highway department may function and pay for the contracts already let, that you provide revenue that will be immediately available."

"It is also necessary that you provide revenue immediately available for the paying of the deficit of the highway department of $230,000."

"It is further necessary that revenue be provided that we may secure from the federal government the two million dollars that will be available when the necessary funds from the state are provided."

"In view of the needs above mentioned I recommend that you create a tax on gasoline of 6 cents per gallon for the remainder of 1929, to become effective at once; and also that the amount on gasoline for the year 1929 that has not already been provided for, go to the highways, which will give an increase of 2 cents for immediate use on highways."

"I recommend further that in 1930 and 1931 the gasoline tax be made 8 cents, and that 1 cent go to the counties, as heretofore provided; also that as soon as you make provision for the revenue, that all of the remainder of the gasoline tax, the motor vehicle tax, the bus tax and truck tax, as may be provided by you, shall all go to the highway department, and the highways of the state of Georgia."

"I suggest further that it would not be wise to have a retroactive law which would provide for a change in the distribution of the revenue from gasoline, from which 1-2 cent goes to the common schools, and 1 cent in kerosene, which has already been allocated for the year 1929."

Bus and Truck Transportation.
"The chief executive of the state recommends that such legislation be enacted as will provide for the necessary protection of human life in handling of transportation of buses and trucks; and that same be handled by the public service commission in a way that you may deem wise and safe."

Common Schools.
"Third: I recommend to you that all of the monies, from whatever source, shall be placed in the state treasury."

"I recommend that you provide revenue and appropriate five million dollars for the common schools, two million dollars for the equalization fund, and four hundred thousand dollars for the Barrett Rogers fund; and that you provide sufficient revenue to take care of these appropriations which shall be made, to be paid at a definite time. See Acts 1927, Page 157."

"I call your attention to the fact that the present sources of revenue which are provided by law, which go to the common schools, are complicated and unsatisfactory."

"Your law provides that one-half of all the revenue from all sources of income, or taxation, shall be used for the maintenance of the common schools of Georgia."

"Your law also provides for direct appropriation of one million dollars for the equalization fund, to be paid out of the 1 cent on kerosene and one-half cent on gasoline (see Acts 1927, Page 106), and all over and above one million dollars from this source shall also go to the common schools. (Appro. Bill 1927, Page 17.) This constitutes a part of the common school fund."

"Your law also provides under Acts of 1926, Page 207, that after paying all expenses of the game and fish board, salaries of commissioners, wardens and deputies and propagation of game and fish, all such moneys not used for the purpose shall be paid over to the state treasurer for the benefit of the common schools of Georgia as now provided by law."

"Your constitutional amendment of 1926 authorized the governor to borrow $500,000 for the purpose of paying school teachers only. The enabling act of 1927 provides as follows: 'And the principal amount so borrowed shall be repaid each year out of the common school appropriation of that year; and the amount appropriated for paying interest is to be paid from the general treasury, which is appropriated for each year.' You provided for $100,000 for 1928 and $100,000 for 1929 to pay the interest on borrowed money."

"There is no relief to the taxpayer to have to pay borrowed money, and interest. It is far better business to provide for the government to borrow money which the state must pay back with interest."

"May I call your attention to the fact that almost one-third of our session is passed, and the responsibility of taking care of deficits and providing revenue for the next two years has not been provided. However, the governor of this state confidently believes that this splendid body of legislators is equal to the task."

"Respectfully submitted,"

"L. G. HARDMAN, Governor."

ACTION IS POSTPONED
ON CO-ORDINATION BILLIvan Allen, Chairman of Hardman Commission, Appears Before Committee.

The house committee on state of the republic Wednesday night postponed definite action on the Ivan Allen "co-ordination of state government" bill until a later meeting of the committee, following a preliminary public hearing of the measure.

Ivan Allen, prominent Atlanta and chairman of Governor Hardman's government co-ordination commission, which drew up the bill, appeared before the committee and spoke briefly on the measure. He explained a few of the strongest provisions in the bill and answered questions of the committee members. Philip Welter, president of the Atlanta Bar Association, also attended the hearing and discussed several phases of the bill.

Objection to the sections regulating the public health department was raised by Dr. Thomas P. Abercrombie, state commissioner of health. He declared that making the head of the health department an appointee of the governor would tend to introduce political prejudices into the organization of the health department. He also pointed out the present health board.

Chairman Hugh Peterson, of the state of republic committee, continued the hearing on the bill until the next meeting of the group to allow more complete study of the measure by members of the committee.

CROKER BATTLE FOR LAND TITLE
NEAR DECISION

West Palm Beach, Fla., July 17.—(AP)—Following completion of final arguments in the six-year-old legal battle of Mrs. Eula Croker, widow of the late Richard Croker, Tammany Hall chieftain, against J. B. McDonald and the Palm Beach Estates, Circuit Judge C. E. Chillingworth announced late today he would hand down a decision within a month or six weeks.

The case involves title to approximately 10,000 feet of ocean front property in Palm Beach, valued at about $7,000,000.

Mrs. Croker brought suit to nullify a contract with McDonald, her agent, under which the real estate operator claims she and her late husband agreed to sell the property at $150 a front foot. Shortly after the death of Mr. Croker, the widow began litigation to set aside the contract. The property recently was appraised at approximately $750 a front foot.

Even if Mrs. Croker loses the suit, she will receive approximately $2,000,000, but if she is successful in winning the litigation, the property will bring at sale an estimated $10,000,000.

WIFE OF ROGERS TO SEEK SOCIAL
LEAD, PAPER SAYS

New York, July 17.—(AP)—The New York American said today it is understood the former Mrs. Basil Miles, recent bride of Colonel H. H. Rogers, will make a bid for New York social leadership upon her return from Europe within the next two weeks.

The newspaper points out that the new Mrs. Rogers is beautiful, in her early thirties, has a wide acquaintance in America, a reputation for tact, a flair for wearing clothes and the backing of the Rogers Standard Oil millions.

An odd circumstance, the American said, is that she is an Austrian like Count Ludwig Salm von Hoegstraten, whose marriage to Millicent Rogers was bitterly opposed by the colonel.

The marriage ended in a divorce and the Rogers heiress now is the wife of Arturo Ramos, a wealthy Argentine.

The former Mrs. Miles as Elzve von Braun, of Budapest first was married to Penelope Savell, an Atlanta engineer. They were divorced in 1924. A year later she married Basil Miles, of Philadelphia, who died a year ago.

She visited New York two years ago and in order to increase her income obtained a position with a Fifth Avenue store as a style consultant. She occupied a suite at the Hotel Plaza, where she received callers and displayed her gowns.

DEPORTED DURING YEAR, IS REPORT

Washington, July 17.—(AP)—A total of 12,908 persons were deported from the United States during the last fiscal year.

Immigration Commissioner Hull, in making this announcement today, said the principal reasons for deporting aliens were because they were criminals, had overstayed their time limit or had become public charges.

Deportations numbered 11,625 in 1928; 11,142 in 1927; 10,994 in 1926; 9,405 in 1925, and 6,409 in 1924.

From the foreword of a manual of instructions distributed to em-

"This Company will not wrong anyone intentionally, and if by chance it commit a wrong, it will right it voluntarily."

"NO employe is ever justified in assuming that the size of the Company entitles him to impose on others. No matter how humble the individual may be, his rights and his feelings should be scrupulously respected. The Company is big because it must be in order to do a big work of service, but it will never be big enough to disregard the rights of others. The very fact that the Company is large makes it all the more important that it should, in every dealing, be careful to give proper consideration to the people with whom and with whose properties and whose rights it comes in contact. Consideration should be shown regardless of the condition or position in life of the party with whom we are dealing. This applies to men, women and children, white and black. Indeed, the more humble a person is the greater the obligation of a gentleman to practice consideration. If a person is weaker than we are, their very weakness is an additional reason why we should not take unfair advantage."

"Remember that one of the Company's publicly announced policies is that

This Company will not wrong anyone intentionally, and if by chance it commit a wrong, it will right it voluntarily."

"This does not mean that we will submit to being unjustly imposed upon nor that every injury suffered by others is the result of a wrong on our part. But it does mean exactly what it says and should be lived up to in all of our dealings."

County Commissioners Find McKeand Free of Blame In Writing of Whitley Letter

No Money Ever Given or Promised to Georgia Legislator, Joint Committee Secretary Says.

No money, either for influencing votes or paying expenses, has ever been given or promised to any member of the Georgia state legislature, A. W. McKeand, secretary of the joint committee for highway bonds, told officers and directors of the Association of County Commissioners of Georgia at a meeting Wednesday morning.

Following Mr. McKeand's explanation of the writing and publication of his letter, a sub-committee was appointed to draw up a statement of the joint committee's position on the matter and in regard to highway bonds.

This statement was made public by Frank Hunter, member of the executive committee of the highway bonds organization Wednesday night. It said in part: "This letter was evidently a private and more or less confidential communication. Just why and how Mr. Whitley saw fit to give this letter to the press has never been made clear."

"We do not deem it either necessary or proper to pass judgment upon the correspondence, except to say that the whole thing appears to be a sort of 'tempest in a teapot.' We give it as our unqualified opinion that no such incident will influence any member of the legislature in arriving at a decision as to how he is going to vote on his oath as a legislator on the great question confronting the people of the state of how best to get them out of the mud and dust."

"Financial matters have never even been discussed in the presence of members of the assembly," Mr. McKeand said, at the meeting which was called to draw up a statement of the joint committee's position on the matter and in regard to highway bonds.

A letter from Charles B. Shelton, Fulton county attorney, was read by amendments at the state capitol Wednesday afternoon.

The secretary of the committee said that the names of four legislators—Senators Myrick and Williams and Representatives Dykes and McWhorter—had been mentioned only because of their well known stand behind the highway bond project. These men were never "selected" for payment by the committee, Mr. McKeand said, but were used only because of their aggressive views.

Myrick's Bill Drawn.

Senator Myrick's highway bill was practically drawn up long before the joint committee was organized," the speaker declared.

The fact that four names of legislators were used, and four salaries were paid, was thought to have caused much of the unfavorable publicity given the letter, Mr. McKeand said that of the four men the committee expected to hire, only two had been approached and only one actually hired.

He gave the names of Judge W. R. Jones, former member of the house from Meriwether county, and F. P. Fippin, of Atlanta, as those who had been asked to work for the committee. Judge Jones was the only man actually employed.

Mr. McKeand said he had never refused to reveal these names to anyone except one Atlanta newspaper which, he charged, was purposely misinterpreting the facts in the case.

Walter B. Stewart, chairman of the joint committee, which is made up of the Association of County Commissioners and numerous other organizations interested in highway bonds, said that all money used by the committee had been used properly for entertainment and headquarter expenses.

A Fund for Goodwill.

It was said that the "legislative fund" referred to in the letter to Mr. Whitley, meant money to be used in publication of bills relative to the road situation and for holding banquets at which prominent authorities on road finance would speak. Mr. McKeand denied that money in such a fund was to go to buy the votes of assembly members.

Members of the commissioners' association were of the opinion that Mr. McKeand's letter had been written with honest intent to answer the questions of Mr. Whitley asked in a previous letter. The LaGrange contractor had been a contributor to the publicity fund of the Georgia Automobile Association, one of the organizations in the joint committee.

A letter from Charles B. Shelton, Fulton county attorney, was read by Chairman Stewart in regard to the highway bill now before the general assembly. In it, the opinion was given that a law of 1919 holding that counties could not be repaid for money spent on highways until all the state aid system had been constructed was still in effect and that it could be repealed by the act of any legislature.

Numerous other phases of the highway problem were considered at the meeting. It was decided to attend the meeting of the constitutional amendments committee and the highway bonds dinner Wednesday night as a body and to consolidate demands for the issue of highway bonds.

The Association of County Commissioners originally had a highway bond bill of its own drawn, but has turned to the support of other bills introduced on the senate floor by other senators and organizations.

ROAD CHIEF URGES DEFINITE PROGRAM

4,800 to 6,200 miles and there is no assurance that it is not going to be increased by even more mileage, according to the speaker. He said Georgia, with 6,200 miles in its state road system, is trying to build a system as large as many states which have twice the amount of revenue for road building purposes as Georgia.

Mr. McDonald said the situation in this state is a three-way proposition. He said the highway department and the state legislature must co-operate in stabilizing the size of the agencies must co-operate with the federal government.

"After this condition is realized there must be an administration machinery established which has the confidence of the people and with which the federal government can work. The question of that it is not right to build a road system through use of the bond issue and use of the pay-as-you-go plan but the bond issue would provide quicker results," he said.

Burdening of Counties.

Mr. McDonald said the experience of his department has demonstrated beyond question that it is not right to burden the counties of a state to build state roads. He declared that money advanced by counties for such purposes should be refunded so that the counties could build lateral and feeder roads for the main arteries. He declared that road bonds are not bonds against private property but are bonds outstanding against a stipulated revenue of the state.

"If you want to derive revenue from your roads you first must have the roads before the income is earned," he said.

Although 31 states of the Union have used the bond issue plan in not one case has a bond ever been turned back on the people for payment, according to the speaker.

Mr. McDonald expressed the hope that Georgia would soon resume relations with the federal government so that federal aid allotments can be made to this state.

Speakers Introduced.

Mr. McDonald was introduced by Henderson Hallman and W. Tom Winn introduced Mr. Upham. Mr. Winn said Mr. Upham had served as one of the engineers of the North Carolina system of roads and declared that he has served as chief engineer of the highway department of the Republic of Mexico.

In his talk Mr. Upham quoted figures showing the prosperity of the 31 states that have issued bonds for road building as compared to the 17 states that have not issued bonds. He showed that the increase in automobiles bought in the 31 states was 6.5 per cent last year as compared to 4.5 per cent in the non-bond states.

"This increase of nearly 50 per cent indicates more prosperity in the bond issue states," he said.

Before selecting the bond issue plan or the pay-as-you-go plan the conditions in a state first must be studied, according to the speaker. He said it has been demonstrated that it is best to use the bond issue plan early in the road building program while later it is found best, in some states, to return to the pay-as-you-go plan.

Comparing North Carolina, a bond issue state, with Georgia and Virginia, non-bond states, Mr. Upham said that in 1919 Georgia led North Carolina in the number of automobiles. In 1922, after the bond issue plan was adopted in North Carolina, that state stepped into the lead and at present North Carolina has 100,000 more automobiles than Virginia and 150,000 more automobiles than Georgia.

It is estimated that North Carolina now has 180,000 more automobiles with a bond issue road plan than the state would have had if the pay-as-you-go plan had been retained."

LEAGUE OF NATIONS LAUDED AT INSTITUTE

Athens, Ga., July 17.—(AP)—High praise for the League of Nations as a medium of arbitration for world powers was voiced here today by Dr. James T. Shotwell, who declared that other international alliances should be secondary to the Geneva tribunal.

A Columbia university history professor told his audience at the institute of public affairs at the University of Georgia that in his opinion a triple entente of the great sea powers, Great Britain, the United States and Japan, would not alone serve as a barrier against war between these three nations.

"However," Dr. Shotwell said, "there is no reason why the three governments should not come together for the purpose of putting their veto on future wars as long as their action is in support of the league's principles and is not directed toward substituting a new and rival machinery."

Replying to an article written by an unnamed former American ambassador in which the triple entente was advocated as a better way preventative than membership in the league, the professor declared his conception of the league made the Geneva tribunal a supreme power with the authority to supervise and effect regional understandings throughout the world.

Dr. Charles H. Herty continued his discussion of southern industrial life before the institute and President S. S. Arkwright spoke on the economic development of Georgia. Mrs. Ann Webster was on tonight's program for an address on the "Woman Movement."

BODY DISAPPROVES HIGHWAY BONDS

Before the joint committee in session, declared that only a bond issue can relieve the road situation in Georgia.

"There is no way on earth for Georgia to get a system of paved trunk highways except through a state bond issue and there is no use discussing any other plan," he said.

Road Ends at County Line.

The speaker declared that Muscogee county now has a system of paved roads that runs in six directions from Columbus and that at the county line on each road the pavement ends and a dirt road begins.

"We are cut off on all sides by bad roads and are virtually an oasis of good roads in a desert of dust and dirt," he said.

The automobile should no longer be considered a "pleasure car" but should be considered as a necessity, according to Mr. Jordan, who pointed out the use of automobiles of all kinds in business lines and other necessary activities. He said as a business proposition the state should build paved highways immediately and declared that great losses are sustained daily in business and by car owners because of the "deplorable condition of highways in this state."

Mr. Jordan displayed a map and showed by the map, the latest one of the state highway department, that there is only one paved trunk highway that runs across Georgia from state line to state line.

"This is only a short road that runs from Augusta to the Florida line," he said. "The next near trunk line runs from the North Carolina line to Atlanta and thence to Florida but this road is not completed. From Lawrenceville to Buford and from Gainesville to Toccoa it is unpaved. Elsewhere in the state there is no long stretch of paved trunk highway that can be considered as a cross state road."

Mr. Jordan said much talk had been heard about how the people of North Carolina had been burdened with debt because of road construction but said the people of that state do not regret their course.

"If the North Carolina people are burdened down with debt they are the most cheerful set of beggars I ever saw," he said.

Should Amend Constitution.

Mr. Jordan said it is foolish to say that the constitution of the state should not be amended.

"Thomas Jefferson said that constitutions ought to be changed every 25 years," he declared to the committee. "We have amended the constitution at least 35 times since 1877."

Mr. Stewart spoke briefly. He outlined the movement in behalf of a bond issue for good roads, declaring that it was fostered by the Association of County Commissioners of Georgia. He urged the committee to vote to submit the bond issue to the people of the state for a vote.

Mr. Carrington spoke as a farmer and outlined benefits he said farmers would receive from a system of paved roads.

"What the most forward looking farmers of the state want is a system of paved trunk highways with the state taking care of the main trunk line," he said. "Then the money advanced by counties should be paid back to those counties and the counties should keep up the lateral roads so that the farmers can get back and forth to the trunk lines without difficulty with their farm products."

Former State Senator Kelley declared that a bond issue for road purposes could be the centering wedge toward open, other means of indebtedness. He said many railroads that issued bonds have not retired such bonds although the lines themselves have been scrapped. He said the road built with bond issue money would wear out in 20 years and that the state would still owe the money for them. He said the state could not build roads under a bond issue plan for less than $20,000 a mile, taking into account interest charges. He said the state should not tie itself to a large bond issue when such great advances are being made in air navigation.

Judge Terrell, who spoke against the bond issue, declared that there is no chance for bonds to pass in either branch of the assembly. He urged that a prompt vote be taken on the question.

"We do not get anywhere through arguments," he said. "Most of the members know how they stand on this question and we ought to vote on it at once and settle it once and for all. I am against bonds and intend to vote that way. If the legislature decides to submit a bond issue I intend to stump the state to speak against the bonds. There is no reason for further delay on this question. The senate is ready to vote on bonds tomorrow, and I feel that the house also is ready to pass on the question."

2,000,000 AVAILABLE IN RUSS, CHINA ARMIES

Reserve Force of Two Nations
Totals 22,000,000
Men, Is Computed.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.
Should the present disagreement between Russia and China go to extremes, there would be brought into conflict more than one-fourth of the estimated population of the world and about seven per cent of the world's area.

The two could employ at once armies aggregating more than 2,000,000 men with reserves of nearly 22,000,000 men, according to best available data. Reliable figures are lacking in both cases, however.
The latest available statistics for the two republics (admittedly estimated even when derived from official sources) are:
Population—China, 400,800,000; Russia, 147,013,000.
Area—China, 4,277,170 sq. mi.; Russia, 8,144,228 sq. mi.
Army (est.)—China, 1,500,000; Russia, 658,000.
Unorganized Reserves—China, 14,600,000; Russia, 1,887,000.

SOVIET AND CHINA SEVERE RELATIONS

not satisfactory to Russia, it had appeared that Russia was placated by it. But the Russian note tonight revealed a second communication from China, evidently of strong tenor. What action will follow it is too early to tell. The Kellogg anti-war pact was formed to solve such situations without recourse to arms, and it was believed here that the world powers would lose no time in offering their services.

Britain to Lead Way.

Great Britain was regarded as likely to lead the way. Ramsay MacDonald, British labor premier, is on the verge of offering to restore British-Russian diplomatic relations, severed now for two years. Any belligerent move by Russia would not only halt this intention, but would prove greatly embarrassing to the pacific MacDonald. As in the United States, many in Britain are opposed to any sort of relations with Russia.

From Russia's standpoint, any strong action would seem likely to cause the post-war ring of hostile nations to form about her; and it was hoped here that some step would be taken, possibly today, to ameliorate what at the moment is an ugly situation.

Both China and Russia are signatories of the Kellogg pact. Russia has shown every intention lately of building up good relations with nations that have opposed her communist leaders. Russians, not only the government but the people, were angered by the Chinese railway seizure and the arrest of many Russian officials. They regarded the move not as aimed really at communist propaganda, but against Russian participation in the railway administration—a purely diplomatic maneuver. Therefore, it was hoped here that some action might be taken at once to prevent further misunderstanding and reconciliation between the governments involved.

RELATIONS SEVERED BY TWO COUNTRIES.

Moscow, July 17.—(AP)—Russia tonight broke off diplomatic relations with China.

The note placed entire responsibility for all consequences upon the Chinese government. It announced also that all soviet diplomatic and consular officials and all government commercial representatives would be recalled at once from China.

Makes Note Public.

The soviet government made public its reply to the Chinese note, the latter having come in response to an ultimatum from Russia. In this note the soviet union said that all means of reaching an amicable settlement had been exhausted.

It further declared that all soviet officials would be recalled from the Chinese Eastern railway. That all railway communications between soviet territory and China would be suspended and that the diplomatic and consular representatives of the Nanking government would be ordered immediately to leave the union of soviet socialist republics.

The soviet note said that the Moscow government would reserve all the rights arising from the Peking-Mukden agreement of 1924.

Hypocritical Charged.

It declared that the Chinese reply to the Russian ultimatum was unsatisfactory in content and hypocritical in tone.

Countering the Chinese charge that Russia has been persecuting Chinese citizens in soviet territory, the note said that this was a hypocritical endeavor by China to justify its own outrages in the arrest of Russian citizens. The note declared that the nationalist government knows well that Russia has had recourse to repressive measures only in the case of insignificant groups of spies, opium traders, white slavers, smugglers and other criminal Chinese.

The Russian action in breaking off diplomatic relations with China came at the expiration of time set in an ultimatum which the soviet union dispatched to the Oriental republic on July 13. That ultimatum gave the nationalist government at Nanking three days in which to rescind its action in seizing the Chinese Eastern railway in Manchuria.

It also demanded restoration of office of the Russian officials who had been deposed from their places in the railway and liberation of all Russian nationals who had been imprisoned. By the terms of the ultimatum, the closing of Russian institutions in Manchuria, such as banks, railway unions and business syndicates, also was to be rescinded.

While the three days specified in the ultimatum would have expired Tuesday, the soviet government learned there had been a delay of at least twenty-four hours in translating and transmitting the note to Nanking. With this time added, the ultimatum expired at midnight Wednesday, which was almost the exact hour at which announcement of the break was made.

Conciliatory Reply.

Nanking had sent a reply which the Tass Agency, official Russian news distributor, described as "a conciliatory communication." As given out in Moscow, the Chinese nationalist government in this reply said it desired only peaceful relations with the soviet union, and that the measures taken at Harbin ought not to affect the relations between the two governments, the intimation being that they were directed at individuals rather than the Russian state itself.

As announced in China, the Nanking reply contained three points which the nationalists considered of special importance. The first was that Chu Zao Yang, former ambassador at Moscow, would soon leave Nanking for the soviet capital to discuss all questions between the two governments. The second was a demand that Russia release all Chinese citizens who were imprisoned within soviet territory, and the third was a demand for adequate protection of Chinese nationals in Russia.

While Tass described this note as "conciliatory," and while that estimation was echoed from Tokyo, the popular opinion of it was reflected by mob attacks upon the Chinese consulate in Moscow. These were especially violent on Tuesday night.

Surprised at Vagueness.

Aside from this evidence of hostility, there was little to indicate the imminence of a break. An indirect report, coming via Riga, Latvia, said that L. M. Karakhan, vice commissar for foreign affairs, had handed a note to the Chinese representative at Moscow which expressed surprise at the vagueness of the Nanking reply to the ultimatum. This report also said that M. Karakhan refused to take any responsibility on behalf of his government for alleged activities of communist propagandists in Manchuria.

It was this alleged activity in spreading soviet doctrines that the Chinese blamed for the entire situation. They declared that Russian agents had violated a treaty made in 1924 in this report. On May 27 a number of raids were made by Manchurian authorities on the Russian consulates in Harbin and other cities. Chang Hsueh-liang, present war lord of Manchuria, reported to Chiang Kai-shek, nominal head of the nationalist government, and to C. T. Wang, foreign minister, that these raids had uncovered indisputable evidence that Russians in Manchuria were violating the anti-propaganda clause of the 1924 treaty. In explaining the seizure of the Chinese Eastern railway, Nanking spokesmen said that China was determined to stamp out communism and especially to do away with the undercover spread of doctrines aimed at weakening the nationalist movement. They declared that they were actuated only by motives of self preservation in taking this course.

Troop Movements.

Ever since the situation became acute there have been closely censored reports of troop movements on both sides of the Manchurian-Siberian frontier. It has been related that the Chinese were moving some of their best equipped troops to that border and that these soldiers were being reinforced with armed "white Russians."

From Nanking sources similar reports have told of the gathering of soviet forces on the Siberian side, together with volunteers made up of Mongolian tribesmen offered by Chinese as well as Russians especially trained by Moscow for service in the far east.

Neither side has revealed specific numbers or stations for its own forces, although such has been insisted upon by the Russian side, claiming to reveal the disposition of the other's soldiery. Russian territory runs around three sides of Manchuria on the west, north and east. The first field of military operations, in the situation comes to that stage, is likely to be along the Argun river, which forms the northeastern boundary. The Chinese Eastern railway crosses the border just west of the point where this river becomes an entirely Manchurian stream. The principal cities at that crossing are Manchuli on the Chinese side and Sharan on the Siberian side.

CHINA TO RESIST RUSSIAN THREATS.

Nanking, China, July 17.—(AP)—A member of the central executive committee of the Kuomintang, which is the political party of the nationalist government, told newspapermen this afternoon the government would resist to the very end any Russian threats growing out of the taking over of the Chinese Eastern railway in Manchuria.

He said there were alarming rumors respecting military preparations by the soviet government, but that the nationalists were determined to hold what they now possess in Manchuria.

The same spokesman also said a certain foreign power, on the pretext of protecting its existing rights in Manchuria, was reported as planning to utilize the situation for an expansion of its interests in that territory. He emphasized that this was only a rumor and he expressed the hope it would prove unfounded.

In this connection it was recalled that President Chiang Kai-shek was reported to have told a gathering of Kuomintang leaders yesterday that the taking over of the Chinese Eastern railway was only the first stage of the nationalist policy toward Russia. He was quoted as having added:

"After this first stage we will go further. The imperialist powers are greatly excited over our coup against the Russians and fear their interests may be involved. But so long as we Chinese are united we need not fear oppression from the outside."

Tokyo, July 17.—(United News.)—Continued movement of troops along the Manchurian-Siberian border and sudden disruption of frontier railway connections caused continued uneasiness today in regard to the soviet union's controversy with the Chinese nationalist government, despite the willingness of both parties to confer on a solution of the situation.

Arrival of two divisions of soviet troops in the vicinity of the rail line on the Siberian border prompted the cutting of the railway connection, according to United News dispatches from Harbin. Apparently it was feared the Russians might attempt to make use of the lines to invade Manchuria.

White Guards On Duty.

Meanwhile, the former Russian imperialist white guard forces were on duty at the border opposite Pograditch and the Manchurian twenty-sixth division entrained for Hulin.

These war-like maneuvers along the remote border did little to quiet uneasiness over the outcome of the controversy over control of the Chinese Eastern railway in Manchuria, from which the Russian officials were ousted last week.

SENATE TARIFF BODY WILL END HEARINGS

Sessions Extending Over
Five Weeks To Be Concluded Today.

Washington, July 17.—(AP)—The senate finance committee approached the end of its long hearings on the house tariff bill today by listening to conflicts over the new administrative provision affecting Canadian wheat milled in bond in the United States.

Buffalo millers, interests associated with the proposed amendment to the law whereby Canadian wheat milled in bond in this country and intended for export to Cuba would be taxed about 35 cents a barrel or 30 percent, which is the amount of the tariff reduction granted by Cuba to American flour.

Southwestern millers not only opposed the proposed change but asked that it be lightened to guarantee the Cuban preferential market to flour made from American wheat.

While the hearings were progressing, the state department forwarded to the committee two more foreign communications containing proposals for wheat rates on granite and matches.

The protests came from the Swedish Match Company and the Association of Swedish Granite Industries.

The committee hopes to conclude its five weeks of public hearings tomorrow. As was done in the house ways and means committee, the democrats then will be excluded and 11 republicans will retire behind closed doors to prepare amendments to the bill. It still is doubtful whether the measure can be made ready for the senate by August 10, the date it reconvenes.

John Pillsbury, Pillsbury Flour Mills, Minneapolis; W. L. Harvey, International Milling Company, Minneapolis; and Frank H. Hays, Washburn-Crosby Company, all operating milling in bond plants at Buffalo, opposed the new wheat provision.

E. H. Hogue, Kansas City, representing the Southwestern Millers' League, argued for its retention and strengthening.

The opponents contended the change would divert to Canada the milling of Canadian high protein wheat now done under bond in the United States; that Cuban bakers had become accustomed and had expressed a preference for the flour made from the Canadian product; and that Cuba would continue to purchase this flour if the provision were adopted—but from Canada instead of the United States. Pillsbury maintained the southwestern millers would get practically no benefit from the change.

Can Use Wheat
Hogue denied that southwestern millers could not obtain wheat from American growers of the protein content said to be lacking in the milling in bond exporters, declaring such wheat could be obtained in sufficient quantities from Kansas, Oklahoma and the Texas Panhandle.

He suggested an amendment to make Canadian flour as well as wheat, when brought into this country for export to the principal duty countries, pay a duty equal to the preference, and another to make the changes effective immediately upon enactment of the tariff bill and 100 days afterward as provided by the house.

John E. Edgerton, president of the National Association of Manufacturers, and James A. Emery, the organization's general counsel, endorsed the provisions continuing in force the flexible tariff clause which permits the president to raise or lower import duties, and changing the formula for the basis of administrative rate adjustment to equalizing the difference between foreign and domestic conditions or competition in the principal domestic markets. The present formula is based on differences in cost of production alone.

DR. WU IS ASKED
PENALTY IN CASE OF OPIUM SMUGGLER

Washington, July 17.—(United News)—Secretary of State Stimson has asked Dr. C. C. Wu, Chinese minister, what action will be taken in the Yung Kuo case if the three Chinese accused of opium smuggling are returned over to the Chinese government as Wu has requested.

Stimson explained today he will wait for this reply before deciding whether to turn the trio over to China.

This action, if taken would result in dismissal of opium smuggling charges against Yung Kuo, vice consul at San Francisco who has been suspended, his wife, in whose trunk 3,000 lbs. of opium were found, and Suen Foon, chancellor of the consulate.

Paper Publisher Again Indicted As Dove 'Baiter'

Newton, Ga., July 17.—(AP)—Judge Robert W. Bingham, publisher of the Louisville Times and the Courier-Journal, and several of his guests at his hunting lodge near here last January, today were re-indicted by the Baker county grand jury on charges of shooting doves over a baited field.

Those named with Judge Bingham in the indictment were Emanuel Levi, general manager of the Courier-Journal; L. K. Callahan, of Chicago, and Herbert Eichel, of Washington, Ind. Judge Bingham and his guests were indicted on a similar charge last January on complaint of Game Warden Chief Clark and G. W. Saye, but when the cases were called the indictments were quashed on a plea of abatement by the publisher's attorneys who contended the true bills were drawn by a grand jury named by a jury commission that had not been sworn in as required by law.

While the first indictments were returned Judge Bingham denied that he and his friends had violated any law as they were shooting doves on his private preserve, "Tindal Lodge," and on land that it regularly yielded to feed stubs as a part of a program for game conservation in a section where such conservation is greatly needed.

Hearing on the cases is not expected until the fall, as none of the defendants is now in the state.

RAGSDALE'S DESK IS CLEARED OF ALL COUNCIL'S PAPERS

Mayor I. N. Ragdale Wednesday employed a team of men to clear his desk of all papers received by him by city council. Every one of the papers received his official "okay" with the exception of a revision of the referendum provisions of a proposed annexation of about 30 square miles of territory to Atlanta.

The latter paper, the mayor vetoed and sent it back to city council with a message saying approval of it would be a death blow to a reasonable and equitable annexation program which he has consistently championed.

Alderman Ed A. Gilliam, chairman of the charter revision committee of city council, announced he would fight any move to override the mayor, and stated that a move will be begun immediately to cement annexationists into a block to prevent council from "taking any step which would result to the detriment of the extension paper which will be offered to the Georgia legislature for its sanction within the next few days."

Opponents of annexation held scant hope that council would vote to override the mayor, and decided to content themselves with an effort to revise the annexation measure when it reaches the assembly.

P. Stephens, of College Park.

FORMER ATTORNEY-GENERAL FITS UP OFFICE

BY MARTHA STRAYER,
United News Special Correspondent.
Washington, July 17.—Mabel Walker Wilbrandt and Mayor Jimmy Walker of New York city were talking together in New York the other day.

Mrs. Wilbrandt had just quit her job as assistant attorney-general in charge of prohibition enforcement. This is the first time I ever got near you without feeling uncomfortable," wisecracked Hixson.

Mrs. Wilbrandt opened her new law office in Washington Monday morning. She is entering the general practice of law, specializing in three branches—taxes, radio and aviation. She never had severed her connection with her Los Angeles law office, Wilbrandt and Harwitz, and that firm is a flourishing one, with three associate lawyers. She already has several other clients here, besides the aviation concern.

One of her first jobs with the aviation concern, in addition to helping publicize the opening of the transcontinental air-rail route, was attendance at a conference on aviation held recently by a group of state governors in Idaho. She flew there and back, and listened in on the conference.

CHICAGO BARS METHYL CHLORIDE REFRIGERANT

Chicago, July 17.—(AP)—Removal of methyl chloride gas from 75,000 refrigeration systems in Chicago was started today as a coroner's jury began an investigation into the deaths of a family of three, believed to be victims of the gas.

The action came after Commission of Health Arnold Kegeles issued a temporary order barring the gas from Chicago as a refrigerant. A meeting was called for a council sub-committee to draft an ordinance prohibiting its use.

Dr. Kegeles and Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, county coroner, were aroused by the apparent repetition of fatalities from the gas in the deaths of Joseph Painter, his wife, and their year-old baby, on the heels of the death of Mrs. Viola Clark, north side artist.

Removal of the gas from the systems was started voluntarily by the company which had installed the machines in both the Painter and the Clark apartments, although the coroner's jury found a poster at the Painter apartment declaring a previous jury had been mistaken in deciding Mrs. Clark died of methyl gas. The poster had been placed in the apartment by the company.

The jury said the poster was open to "severe criticism." After visiting the apartment, the jury agreed to meet again Monday afternoon.

With the deaths of Guinea pigs used in experiments by the health department, Dr. Kegeles today said he regarded the single refrigerating units as dangerous as the large systems.

He placed the number of deaths from methyl chloride in Chicago recently seven and the poisonings at 25 in an article published today in "Chicago's Health."

DOOMED SLAYER OF WIFE APPEALS FOR SECOND TRIAL

Aiken's sentence to die on August 25 is stayed automatically by the filing of the motion. Aiken is under indictment for the murder of Boyce Hunter. Hunter and Mrs. Aiken were slain several weeks ago at the Aiken home on Cooper street.

MISS LOTTIE PICKFORD TO MARRY UNDERTAKER

Will Be Third Matrimonial
Venture for Famous Film Star.

Los Angeles, July 17.—(AP)—Lottie Pickford, screen actress, twice previously married has applied for a license to wed Russell O. Gillard, 33, a Los Angeles undertaker.

Miss Pickford, in making application yesterday, signed her name as Lotta Rupp, the surname being that of her first husband. She gave her age as 33. Apparently piqued because her first husband had failed, she threatened to "tear up the papers," but almost immediately changed her mind.

When she appeared at the bureau with Gillard, Miss Pickford wore dark glasses and attempted to hide her face behind a handkerchief.

"I don't want anything about this in the papers," she told newspapermen. "I was trying to keep this marriage a secret."

Miss Pickford's first marriage was with Albert Rupp, New York stock broker, in 1912. She was divorced in 1920. At that time she announced she would not marry again "even if the man had golden wings and a diamond halo."

However, in 1922, she was married to Allen Forrest Fisher, movie actor. She received a divorce five years later. She is a sister of Mary and Jack Pickford. No plans for the wedding were announced.

WALTHER LEAGUERS ELECT SAME OFFICERS

Fort Wayne, Ind., July 17.—(AP)—The present administration of the Walther league will continue in office for another year. Delegates to the 37th annual convention of the young Lutherans voted yesterday to re-elect almost the entire slate of incumbents.

E. J. Gallmeyer, Fort Wayne real estate dealer, was again selected president, receiving 663 votes to 57 cast for Victor Schulz, of Grand Rapids, Mich., who, after his name had been presented by the nominating committee, announced that he favored the re-election of Mr. Gallmeyer.

Four men who have been serving as vice presidents were re-elected. They were Professor W. Baeppler, of Edmonton, Alberta, Canada, north district; W. R. Kramer, Waco, Texas, south; Charles D. Wohltjen, Brooklyn, N. Y., east; and Edwin Meese, Jr., Oakland, Cal., west. Re-election also came to A. F. Schack, of Fort Wayne, treasurer, and Professor E. H. Englebrecht, River Forest, Ill., field secretary. Herbert Kuenne, of Baltimore, was elected recording secretary.

Only the formality of ratification remained before awarding the 1930 convention to Cleveland. No other city extended an invitation that meets the requirements of the league, it was said.

The program for today included a report on the league's creation, a department and conclusion of the annual oratorical contest.

BRITISH ASK PARLEY ON SOVIET RELATIONS

Unconditional Resumption Is Demanded by Russians.
Comment Lacking.

Moscow, July 17.—(United News)—The Norwegian embassy today transmitted, in behalf of Great Britain, the note in which the soviet government is asked to send a representative to London to discuss plans for resumption of relations.

The soviet repeatedly had demanded unconditional resumption, wanting the British to ask them to send an ambassador. There has been much heated newspaper comment on the subject. It was uncertain whether they will accept today's invitation.

No official comment has been made.

ATLANTANS HURT

Three Injured in Crash at Lafayette.

Three Atlantans are in the hospital at Lafayette, La., as the result of injuries received when the car in which they were riding en route to Chattanooga swerved off the road and plunged into a ditch, according to an Associated Press dispatch reaching here Wednesday. The car was driven by E. D. Brown and contained Mrs. Rose Loomis and her 8-year-old daughter, Betty Sue, who were accompanying him when the accident occurred Tuesday afternoon.

No information concerning the occupants of the wrecked automobile was available here, although the dispatch gave Atlanta as the home of the injured trio. According to the report, Brown stated the car got out of control just before plunging into the ditch. The car was badly smashed and the three occupants seriously injured. It is believed all the victims will recover, the little girl being most seriously hurt.

Tennessee Election Commissioners Reply To Suit by Collier

Nashville, Tenn., July 17.—(AP)—Tennessee election commissioners today answered Tom Collier's suit to force them to appoint commissioners in Shelby county immediately with the argument that the state commissioners are not required to make appointment of county commissioners on a specified date or by a specified date. The answer was filed in chancery court here where Collier, Memphis political character, filed his suit seeking to force the commissioners to name the Shelby officials and to oust its members on charges of malfeasance in office.

Collier and several other Shelby county citizens filed the suit last week and charged the delay in appointing the county commissioners to politics. Since then the commission has held another meeting, but election officials for the state's largest county were not selected. Collier, chairman of the board, plans to visit Memphis tomorrow to confer with the applicants for his appointment.

THE GUMPS—GET THE GAFF

THE UNKISSED BRIDE

By BERTA RUCK

SYNOPSIS

Joy Travers, living in London and working for Dr. Rex Travers, is crushed by a letter from her fiancé, Geoffrey Ford, a well-known novelist, asking to be released from the engagement. Preoccupied with her own trouble, she fails to notice that Dr. Travers seems troubled, too. Toward the end of the day he tells Joy that he has just lost a great deal of money through an unscrupulous solicitor, and he will be forced to give up his house in Harley street.

Dr. Locke, a tenant, tells Rex that he has just been offered a comfortable villa in the south of France which he cannot take on, and he suggests that he recommend Rex for it. The only hitch to the plan is that they want a married doctor and Rex is a bachelor. This partner's suggestion that he marry and take up the new post, Rex turns a deaf ear. Joy, who has been listening to the doctor's colloquy, suddenly sees a method of escape for her and she asks Dr. Travers if he will marry her on a business arrangement. The doctor is stunned by suggestion, and finally asks her why she made it. She tells him that she is badly in need of another job, although her real reason is to have Geoffrey read of her engagement to another man.

The doctor broods over the change his altered circumstances will have on his young nephew and ward, Percival Arthur Flitton. Finally he decides to take Joy at her word, and they enter into an agreement to marry on a strictly business basis. Immediately after the ceremony Rex, Joy and Percival Arthur go to the south of France. Joy enjoys keeping house, and Percival Arthur has the time of his life. Joy and Rex become interested in each other. Then the doctor, Geoffrey and his mother, appear on the scene. Joy grows jealous. Joy is no longer interested in Geoffrey, but a misunderstanding arises and Rex and Joy, which strains their relations. They are both miserable.

INSTALLMENT LXV

There on the road they stood, facing each other for the last time; Joy, catching closer about her the driving coat over that woolen frock which she had huddled on anyhow above her yellow dance dress.

"Good-by, Geoffrey," she said, with a spurt of belated appreciation. "You have been terribly nice to me about all this."

"Not I," murmured Geoffrey, standing bareheaded and picturesque to take her hand with a revival of his best choice bland manner; "wistful, whimsical, Coquettish-Coland, 'Think gently of me sometimes, little Joy.'"

"Rather," exclaimed Joy. "The best of luck!"

Geoffrey, though chilled, though badly in need of a drink, having come to his last cigarette and with a 30-mile drive between himself and his comfortable lodgings—Geoffrey nevertheless considered himself to be in the best of luck—since this most tedious, tiresome child was going to take her self out of the radius of his lights and of his life.

"There's only one thing," he added. "Is life to be a limerick left without a finishing line?"

"How do you mean?"

"I mean, I wish I knew the story at the back of this night's work?"

"You never will," said Joy Travers from the bottom of her heart. "Good-by!"

Whirling like snowflakes in a gust, the thoughts of Joy as she scampered along the road!

"He's going to fly me home. It's like my life. For 21 years nothing but plodding about on the solid earth. Now—right up into the air, in an airplane. One of those things I've watched, hardly connecting them with men! More like a sort of tin swallow against a cloud."

She caught Rex up on the dark road, he staggered, dropped into step with her, but did not say a word. The snowflakes went on whirling through her mind.

"For 22 years nothing but the usual, conventional, people meeting routine of a girl's life. Growing up. Imagining I fell in love (poor old Geoffrey). Thinking I'd broken my heart. France. The Villa Newlywed. Weeks of Rex's letters and smoothing down Mary and telling Percival Arthur to look at his nails and Melanie not to sing quite so loud after dishing up and that. None of the real adventure! Never leaving the earth! Today—no, yesterday, I thought I never should. But now it's coming, now. Both," she exclaimed, "love and flying! Ah! This—this is it? Here's the Moth!"

The Moth stood waiting in an open space which somehow seemed still quivering from yesterday's heat, still filling the night with the breath of genists and savage lavender.

Travers, looking down through the half light at Joy told her in those potent monosyllables. "You won't be scared."

He said that small face smile as if in disdain. And he exulted, for he remembered that the last time they had talked about flying, Joy had vowed she never wished or meant to leave the earth. And now, in a few moments, she was going to leave it; leave the scent of earth and growing things for the rare and rushing air, and without a word she smiled.

"Good," said Rex, taking out that torch again. Its beam shone on the small mat on the lower starboard wing. "Put your foot here, will you?"

Joy Travers would severely have put her foot on a tight rope stretched above Niagara had Rex required it. He fastened the little hinged flap of the cockpit door, she nodded to his instructions that she was to settle down comfortably in that cockpit; more room than in a car, and that she could talk, if she wished, to through the telephone. It was he who fitted on to her head the helmet with the telephone receivers from which she had to push back her hair. Rex screwed the tubing that hung down from them to the snaky tube at her left side.

Just before he climbed into the pilot's seat behind her he uttered what to Joy appeared words most unbelievably romantic.

"You see those clouds up there, to the left of the moon? We shall go to, and through, those."

That was the last she saw of him, the last, for the present, that she heard; all she knew was that he was

There, the fading night was again filled with that soft crescendo roar. Swiftly the light Moth ran forward over the bumpy ground. Imperceptibly she left the ground. With the beginning of flight itself, everything for Joy, smoothed out into soft nothingness. The earth fell away, dropped below, faded out; the Moth rose, rose. There was nothing to see but a faint light or so that seemed to be sinking away around the curve of the world. To hear, there was that loud, wild, fierce harp music which was the wind in the struts of the plane. To feel, there was that ineffable sense of entering another element, the uprushing delight of which no words convey.

Suddenly in her ears she heard Rex's voice, surprisingly loud and near.

"All right, are you?"

"Yes," she exclaimed into the tube, hardly thinking the unseen Rex could hear her.

But again she heard the surprising magnified voice.

"Topping night, isn't it?"

"Georgious!"

"Close in her ear she heard the ripple of a laugh in his voice as he asked, 'Glad I came now, to fetch you away!'"

At her half indignant sounding "What—what made you?" she laughed again, and though he was behind her invisible, separated by that wood and leather barrier, she felt as though that soft, deep note lifted her heart against his.

"What?"

"I thought I would, don't you know? Good night for a flip!"

The Moth still rose. "Well, and as a matter of fact, I thought you might on the whole, prefer it, from something I heard let drop after you went."

She did not ask, "What?" She knew, by whom. She did not ask, "Let drop by whom?"

"The boy! He knew!" But then she forgot the boy, herself, even Rex. For the wild music of the wind grew louder. A thin mist swept past, seeming like a veil that is blown from a hat. Joy had no sense of time. Presently in her ear she heard his "Are your hands cold?"

She shook her head. But he was pushing something over her shoulder. A pair of large fur gloves. He held them until she took them. Joy slipped them on, they were still warm from the hands of her lover. Actually she had forgotten, not only that she had not got gloves on, but that she had any hands.

She had forgotten everything except that all her being thrilled as she had done seven hours—or eternities—ago, when Rex's arms had gathered her to him for the dance, while emotion had plucked that arpeggio up and down her heart strings in the casino's perfumed warmth. Now in the ice pure air she thought, "There is nothing in life but love and this. Love and flying!"

This was as if she listened to the piercing melody of some boy's perfect treble. The voice soared at last to a note so piercing sweet that the listening ravished her protests. "Here is the ultimate delight. Voice can go no higher, but voice can go no lower. The treble soars to cleave the center of a note sweeter and higher yet."

Subtly the night seemed to alter them. For in the early morning the sky goes gray as a dove's plumage at the top and primrose yellow at the lower eastern edge. The moon was practically gone on the right and behind them. Away ahead and to the left, what was that? A dim, level sky wrack seemed to silver at its edge. The clouds, ripples of cloud as far as her eye could see.

"You see those? I told you," said the voice in her ears. "We're up about eight thousand now; have to drop again presently. You like this?"

"Rex, Rex," she said, which answered him.

She had never had an idea that the air could feel safe, could feel solid. Why, it felt solid and safe as his own shoulder.

The clouds, like a fairy cloak, appeared all black or dark gray on their western side; all on their eastern side, were gold and silver, and presently Rex was flying round them.

"Hullo."

"We seem to be hovering like a hawk; are we moving?"

A laugh. "Well, I don't know what you'd call it. We're doing well over seventy now. You'll feel her move when we get there. I'll tell you what I'm doing when I switch off the engine to land. It'll be pretty well light by the time we arrive. But in about half an hour you can look out for those hurricane lamps in a triangle. Young Smithson said he'd put them out. I don't mean bother to look for them. I'm here. Go to sleep if you like."

Little Joy, with blissful release at her heart, lay back in the cockpit. Of course, everything was all right. Was he not there?

Elimination of Double Dry Law Enforcement by State, U. S. Forces, Is Sought Commission Head Would Reduce Overlapping, Unnecessary Expense in His Suggestion.

BY MARK SULLIVAN.

Washington, July 17.—It is the common judgment of Washington that the suggestion about prohibition made conspicuous by George W. Wickersham is of the highest importance. The serious attention paid to it does not at all depend on the mere fact that Mr. Wickersham is the chairman of President Hoover's commission on law enforcement.

The importance of the idea lies in the aptness of its application to present conditions. The suggestion is that the federal government and the state governments, instead of overlapping and duplicating enforcement, as they now do, should divide it between them, so that each should be wholly and solely responsible for its own part of enforcement. As Mr. Wickersham puts it, the federal government should "attend to preventing importation, manufacture and interstate shipment of intoxicants." The state government should undertake the "police regulation to prevent sale, saloons, speak-easies, etc."

Mr. Wickersham's reason for his suggestion is that "thus far the federal government has borne the brunt of enforcement." While Mr. Wickersham did not go so far as to say so, the fact is that the states are tending more and more to shirk their responsibility.

This does not mean merely that some states have repealed their local enforcement laws, and are making no effort whatever. It means in addition that "dry" states which have enforcement laws are shirking the actual work of enforcement. They take an attitude which says "Let Uncle Sam do it." The consequence is that little speak-easies in little villages and in big cities are expected to wait for suppression until a federal prohibition agent comes from Washington.

It has become a common impression that prohibition is purely a federal, as distinguished from a state, policy, and the inclination all over the country is to say "let the federal authorities enforce it," to which is added "if they can."

States Obligated.

The fact is that the states are under just as much obligation to enforce the eighteenth amendment as the federal government. The sentence in the constitution reads: "Congress and the several states shall have concurrent power to enforce this article. What has been coming about is the opposite of concurrent enforcement. Theoretically we have enforcement by two equal partners. Actually, one of the partners, the state, is 'lying down' on the other partner, the federal government."

If Mr. Wickersham's suggestion were in effect, the federal government and the states would divide the work of enforcement. The federal government would stop all smuggling from abroad, stop all wholesale manufacture everywhere, and stop all interstate shipments. The state governments would stop the local sale in saloons, speak-easies, etc. The people of every state would understand that responsibility for suppressing speak-easies is on their own state government, and would not look to Washington to do it. Such a condition would, in the judgment of Wade Ellis, "have an immediate and electrical effect all over the country. The people of every state in the union would realize for the first time that the enforcement of prohibition is primarily their business."

Not Local Option.

Mr. Wickersham's suggestion does not mean that states could have what are called local option laws. It does mean that any state could legalize the sale of intoxicating liquors. The eighteenth amendment, in the words of the supreme court, "binds the legislative bodies, and of its own force invalidates every legislative act which authorizes what the eighteenth amendment prohibits." A state would have only two alternatives. It could enforce it or it could make itself responsible for a lawless condition. The responsibility would be squarely on the state. There would not be, as there is now, an alibi in the shape of Uncle Sam. No state and no person in any state could say in effect, as many now do, "it doesn't matter whether the state enforces or not, because Uncle Sam will enforce anyhow."

It is quite certain that Mr. Wickersham's suggestion will be widely discussed. It is obviously possible the suggestion may be recommended by the commission Mr. Wickersham headed. The suggestion may be the basis for the next phase of prohibition.

GEORGIA LAWYERS ATTEND PARLEY OF LAW LEAGUE

Montreal, Que., July 17.—(AP)—Six Georgia lawyers are attending the annual convention of the Commercial Law League of America, which ends tomorrow. They are:

Joseph M. Clark, Jr., and Virgil L. Powers, Atlanta; T. Baldwin Martin, Macon; C. B. McCuller, Milledgeville; and Albert L. and Herschel E. Cobb, Savannah.

Hardinge Abandons His Effort To Get His Wife's Children

Knoxville, Tenn., July 17.—(AP)—Franklin S. Hardinge, millionaire Chicago manufacturer, against whom Ann Livingston, of Tulsa, Okla., recently obtained a $25,000 verdict in a breach of promise suit, apparently has abandoned efforts to secure custody of two young sons of Mrs. Hardinge by a former marriage.

Joe Weems, of Strawberry Plains, near here, father of Mrs. Hardinge's former husband, Troy Weems, said Hardinge told him last night he did not plan to bring suit for custody of the children. Mr. and Mrs. Hardinge could not be located today. Weems said they told him they were going back to Chicago.

Mrs. Hardinge was divorced from Weems two years ago. The two children, awarded by the court to their father, have been living with their grandparents.

ON MY WAY TO THE TENT TODAY I MET JACK HOWARD. "HAWKINS," HE SAID, "HAVE YOU SEEN MY SIX BROTHERS?" I SAID, "NO WHEN DID YOU LOSE 'EM?" HE SAID HE LEFT THEM ABOUT AN HOUR AGO AND NOW HE COULDN'T FIND THEM.

SAID, "JACK HOWARD, YOU DON'T KNOW THE PELHAMS?" "SURE I DO," HE SAID. "I SAID YOU'RE ACQUAINTED WITH 'EM BUT YOU DON'T KNOW 'EM." THEN I TOLD HIM SOME OF THE THINGS THEY DID TO US.

JUST AS WE WERE TALKING CLARENCE WILKS CAME ALONG. HE STARTED TO RUN AWAY, BUT I CALLED HIM BACK. I TOLD CLARENCE THAT JACK'S BROTHERS WERE LOST. HE GOT REAL EXCITED AND SAID, "I SAW 'EM, IN THE PELHAM CANOES!"

WE WENT UP TO OUR TENT AND GOT OUR BOYS. WE WENT OVER TO THE PELHAM SIDE. NOBODY WAS THERE. THE PELHAM SHACKS WERE EMPTY. OUR CAPTAIN ORDERED US ALL TO SCATTER AND HUNT AROUND FOR THE PELHAMS. (CONTINUED TOMORROW, GIVE TILL THEN)

WOMEN ARE URGED TO COVER KNEES

Salem, Ore., July 17.—(AP)—A resolution urging women to wear dresses of sufficient length to cover their knees when sitting as well as when standing was adopted last night by the Catholic Women's Society in its national convention here.

Birth control and the new freedom for women were dealt with in other resolutions. Preceding their adoption, delegates to the society and to the Catholic Central Verein of America, heard addresses deploring the alleged immorality of present fashions in dress and the practice of birth control.

The resolution on feminine skirts deplored "the trend on the part of girls and women who by displaying too much of their physical form have become a source of temptation to all men, young and old."

The birth control resolution asserted that the dominant motive behind the movement "is not the economic consideration but the desire to shirk the responsibilities of large families and the desire of many mothers to escape the sacrifices demanded of them."

Still another resolution declared anything that destroyed woman's "real duty and Christian prerogative" is "deplorable and looked upon as retarding rather than advancing the cause of social progress."

"Hit and run" marriages and divorces were denounced in an address by the Rev. Gregory Roble, of Portland, Ore., as "a cancer to society in every land and especially here."

"Libertinism and license are the underlying causes of this shocking and demoralizing condition," he said, adding that the immorality of dress of women was "a constant moral danger to the innocence of young men."

"Our modern dances," he said, "harbor a great danger to the innocence of our young people. Saturday night dances and those before holy days should be sternly interdicted by church and parental authority." He further declared "moonshine and automobile outings by the unmarried are most dangerous to the very concept of morality."

GEORGIA YOUTH FATALLY BURNED IN GASOLINE BLAST

Forsyth, Ga., July 17.—(Special.)—Marion Wilson, 21, son of Mrs. Otis Wilson, lost his life today at Russellville in the southern part of this county when a gasoline stove container exploded.

Wilson, in company with two or three others, one of whom was his uncle, E. V. Wilson, was preparing lunch in the back of a store when the accident occurred. The others made their escape and it was thought that Wilson had also escaped when they heard him knocking at a barred window, probably being blocked from any other outlet by the flames. When the bars were pried off he fell back in the flames. His mother who was not at home at the time was prostrated under the care of a physician. His father was killed by a negro several years ago.

Family Meets Sunday.

The reunion of the Elijah Webb family will be held Sunday at the Hardeman Primitive Baptist church on Glenwood avenue just off the Orphan's Home road. At 11:30 o'clock Elder W. T. Walden will speak followed by a basket dinner at noon.

AMERICAN FLIERS GREET FRENCH TRIO

Paris, July 17.—(AP)—Captain Lewis A. Yancy and Roger Q. Williams, American trans-Atlantic fliers, reached Paris from Rome today and had a reunion with their Old Orchard friends, Armand Lotti, Rene Lefevre and Jean Assolant.

One of the first things the Americans planned on their arrival in Europe was to visit the French fliers who also spanned the Atlantic shortly before them.

Although they had planned to go to London, the airmen have decided to give this up and to start for the United States on Friday aboard the steamship Republic.

The fliers made the trip from Rome in fair time and were met at the Le Bourget flying field by French and American officials. This evening they were guests of the three French fliers and tomorrow they expect to fly to Cherbourg, where the trans-Atlantic plane Pathfinder will be dismantled and shipped aboard the Republic.

Asked whether they had intended to fly from Europe to New York, Captain Yancy said: "We entertained no such idea. That appears to be a tough job. Look at Coste and he is about as good a pilot as anybody and flew one of the best planes available for such an undertaking. No, I think we will go back on a steamship."

The fliers will be the guests of Norman Armour, American charge d'affaires, at a luncheon tomorrow.

Hug's Relief Man Regains 'Sink'

Pennock Doing Excellent Relief Work, Says Moriarty, Who Believes Yankees Dangerous.

By George Moriarty, Big League Umpire.

New York, July 17.—(AP)—The Yankees' relief pitcher, who counted out of the picture for the last year or more, came back on the job with the stuff that made them famous.

One was down, Kerr was on third base and Lyons on first. Moore faced Hoffner, who took a line drive to left field. Moore's pitch was a fast ball, and Hoffner hit it for a home run. Moore's next pitch was a fast ball, and Hoffner hit it for a home run. Moore's next pitch was a fast ball, and Hoffner hit it for a home run.

TIGERS, INDIANS TRIP LEADERS; ST. LOUIS WINS

Detroit Rallies To Beat Hugmen, 9-8—Cleveland Downs Macks, 5-2.

Detroit, July 17.—(AP)—Babe Ruth's twenty-second home run was wasted here today when Detroit rallied for four unearned runs off Hoyt in the ninth and added a marker off Phipps in the tenth to win the final game of the series by 9 to 8.

CONFIDENT IN THEIR FOUR-RUN MARGIN.

The Yankees permitted Johnson to advance unopposed after he had walked with one out in the ninth. Hoyt then made a two-base wild throw on Rice's bounder, Heinie, doubled and Alexander singled to center. Combs permitted Alexander's drive to escape him, and Bengough muffed the relay, allowing Alexander to score with the tying run.

Tilden and Hunter Face German Stars in Davis Cup Singles

France Will Play Nation That Wins

Germany Sends Youngsters Against U. S. Veterans in Finals of Zone Competition.

Berlin, July 17.—(AP)—While Germany rested all its hopes in the hands of its young sensations, Daniel Prens and Hans Moldenhauer, the United States tonight definitely selected Bill Tilden and Frank Hunter to play the singles and Wilmer Allison and John Van Ryn the doubles in the inter-zone Davis cup tennis final against the Germans this week-end.

Discarding the doubles combination of Heinz Landmann and Heinrich Kleinbrodt which lost in the series with England, the German strategists sprang a surprise by naming Prens and Moldenhauer to carry the burden in doubles as well as singles, when the exact lineups were announced tonight, a day earlier than had been expected. As a result of the draw Tilden is paired with Moldenhauer for the opening singles match on Friday while Hunter faces Prens, considered the more formidable of the Germans because of his two victories in the matches with England.

On Saturday Allison and Van Ryn will tackle Prens and Moldenhauer in doubles while on Sunday the first day's pairings will be reversed with Tilden meeting Prens and Hunter opposing Moldenhauer.

Tomorrow the main courts of the Red-White Club where the battle is to be staged will be given a rest and winter practice taken there will be on secondary courts nearby.

In this afternoon's practice, Tilden and Hunter were given a bad beating in doubles by Van Ryn and Allison, 6-4 6-1.

Two or three hundred Berliners watched the practice.

Germany Watches Two Youngsters.

Berlin, July 17.—(AP)—With Germany meeting the United States here Thursday for the right to battle France in the Davis cup challenge round, the eager attention of all Germans is focused upon two young stars who might have carried the fatherland to new heights in the tennis world.

This country in all its history never saw such white-hot tennis enthusiasm as has been evoked by the showing of Daniel Prens and Hans Moldenhauer, singles aces, in winning the European zone final against England.

The younger and perhaps more promising of Germany's two sensations is Prens, national titleholder since 1928 when he dethroned Otto Froitzheim, the undisputed champion for many years. Born in Leningrad in 1904, Prens is Polish by extraction, Russian by birth and German by adoption. He is regarded as one of the brainiest tennis players in the world and combines extremely clever strategy with dogged determination.

Arriving in Berlin in 1920, Prens first joined the Borussia Club and later the Rot-Weiss, or Red-White, on whose courts the matches will be played.

FIRST ATTENTION. Prens first claimed international attention in 1925 when he defeated Baron Humbert De Morpurgo, Italian star. In 1928 he entered the Davis cup games and played at Paris and Wimbledon.

Until recently Prens studied at Charlottenburg Polytechnic where he was graduated as an engineer this spring. At college he won the national students' championship in mixed doubles with Fraulien Altes, who is now Mrs. O. C. Kiep, wife of the German consul in the embassy at Washington.

Moldenhauer's victory over H. W. Austin of England, last Friday, is said to be due largely to the tactical advice given him throughout by Prens, who approached him after each change of sides. In doubles Prens's success has been greater in mixed than in men's play.

Moldenhauer, since 1925 continuous in third in Germany's tennis ranking list, was born in 1901 and received his early training in the Blauweiss

Griffith Is O. K. After Operation

Chicago, July 17.—(AP)—Clark Griffith, president of the Washington club of the American league, and one of the pioneer figures in major league baseball, late today was resting well following an emergency operation for appendicitis at Mercy hospital.

Griffith, who came here to attend a hearing before Judge Landis on the case of Pitcher Joe Giard, had not been in good health for some time, and last night became acutely ill. Examination revealed a dangerously infected appendix and the operation was done this afternoon.

The hearing on Giard, claimed by Washington since will be on secondary courts nearby.

In this afternoon's practice, Tilden and Hunter were given a bad beating in doubles by Van Ryn and Allison, 6-4 6-1.

Two or three hundred Berliners watched the practice.

Hughes Wins Title Of Druid Hills Club

Champion Beats Hinman, 8-6—Young Grant Shatters Par To Win Capital City Match.

Julius Hughes for the second time within three years won the Druid Hills Golf Club championship, when he defeated Tom Hinman, Jr., 8-6, Wednesday afternoon on the club course in the annual club championship match. Hughes was winner two years ago.

Young Hinman won only four of the 18 holes, the second, third, fifth and sixth, while Hughes was victor on all the others.

Hughes played exceptionally good golf, scoring a 37 on the first nine and a 35 on the second nine. Hinman scored 43 on the first nine and 40 on the second.

In the finals of the second flight, Dr. M. D. Huff defeated John Willis, 4 and 2.

Hughes will receive a large trophy for winning the club title and will have his name engraved on the perpetual club trophy along with former champions. Hinman will also receive a trophy and both Dr. Huff and John Willis will be presented with prizes for winning the second flight.

Grant Breaks Par To Win Match.

Shooting spectacular golf with a 69, two strokes under par, John Grant, Jr., present Capital City Club champion, eliminated Milton Dargan, Jr., 9-8, Wednesday afternoon at the feature match of the first round of the club championship tournament.

Although Grant won the match by a large margin, it was not Dargan's poor playing but Grant's sub par golf that wrecked the challenger.

Grant won every hole on the first nine except the third, which was halved in perfect figures of five. Grant ended the match on the tenth green, but continued to play the remaining eight holes. He made an eagle three on the 18th green.

Dargan's play was unusually good, but he could not hope to stay in the match, with Grant shooting sub par golf. Grant will meet Charles Danals, Jr., in the second round.

MARION TURPIE AGAIN WINNER

Southerner Beats Colorado Champion, 6-5. Mrs. Hill Favored.

By Frank H. Frawley.

Denver, Colo., July 17.—(AP)—Shooting a spectacular 73, only two above regulation par for the Denver Country Club course, Mrs. O. S. Hill, defending women's trans-Mississippi golf champion, today was installed as the favorite to repeat her 1928 performance.

Her score was one of the lowest ever made in championship competition and it was good enough to eliminate Mrs. C. N. Johnson, of the Omaha Field Club, 8 and 7. The Nebraska woman failed to win a single hole and was six down at the turn.

MISS TURPIE WINS. Although failing to match the stroke score of the titleholder, Miss Marion Turpie, of New Orleans, the medalist, continued her championship march by eliminating the Colorado champion, Mrs. T. S. Harrison, of Denver, 6 and 5.

Miss Turpie will have as her quarter-final opponent Mrs. J. S. Hynes, of the Normandie Club, St. Louis.

Miss Ruth Replogle, of Oklahoma City, faces Mrs. A. N. Murdock, of Joplin, Mo. Miss Replogle beat Mrs. Ben Fitzhugh, of Vicksburg, Miss., 1 up and Mrs. Murdock won from Mrs. Evelyn Walters, of Lodi, Cal.

JOPLIN WINS. The other match tomorrow will bring together Miss Ann Kennedy, Tulsa, and Miss Phillips Buchanan, Lakewood Country Club, Denver.

Out of 10 competing clubs Joplin, Mo., won the team championship with a net of 163.

Final matches in the championship and consolation flights will be over 36 holes Saturday.

plane of popularity and to provide a test that would meet with the current desire and approval of the fans. I hereby propose the experiment as heretofore outlined.

If in those two weeks the same tremendous hearing is recorded, then we will be certain that it is the weakness of the pitchers and not so much the lively ball that is making absurdly out of so many games. The chances are, however, that pop-fly home runs will be a rarity and once again we will have the thrill of watching a player really earn a home run by a mad dash around the bases.

With high regard, believe me to be, Very sincerely yours, F. A. D. ANDREA.

Tom Angley beat out two infield hits for the Kansas City Blues within a week. That must go down as a record for Tammars and evidence in refutation of the adage that a fat man cannot hustle, in baseball.

Leading Jockey Is Suspended

Chicago, July 17.—(AP)—Jockey Paul Neal, leading rider in America this year with more than 50 victories to his credit, was set down for three days by the stewards at Arlington park for riding in the sixth race yesterday. Neal, who rode the winner in three successive races, had the mount on Cadeite in the sixth race, bringing his horse in ahead after a rough journey.

CRACKERS SCORE.

The Crackers squeezed across one run. It came because of some fancy base running by Bob Parham, the league's outstanding rookie ball player.

Parham walked in the fourth to open the inning. Al Lopez hit one to Joe Clayton, Parham was too close to second to make the play there. Clayton threw to first. Lopez was an easy out. The startled Guy Sturdy suddenly saw that Bob Parham hadn't stopped at second as all-ball players are supposed to do. He had hauled on out for third. Guy Sturdy threw the baseball. He was so startled that he threw it wide and Parham was safe at the bag. He tallied from there a moment later when Dick Burris singled back of third base.

RALLY FAILS.

That was the only tally of the day for the home side. They had a grand and noble chance in the eighth. Bill Marriott, pinch hitting, was out to open the inning. Doc Silva was the second death. Jack Sheehan punched a double, the only extra-base hit the Crackers got, to right field. Bob Parham drew a walk. Al Lopez lived on Urban Pickering's error. Dick Burris was up. A hit would have tied the score. Dick Burris swung nightly. The ball popped up to this Ernest Mr. Smith at second base.

In the ninth the Barons leaped at Clarence Neimtz's left-handed offerings. They combined three base hits to get their third run.

When Pat Haley lived on an error in the ninth, with one gone, Jones popped to the catcher, Climax Blethen, pinch-hitting for Neimtz, singled. Doc Silva tripped desperately but he couldn't make it.

Today will have to be another day.

Cold May Keep Lacoste Off Team

Paris, July 17.—(AP)—Rene Lacoste, one of the strongest bulwarks of the French Davis Cup team, may be lost to France for the challenge round which begins July 26.

Rene is suffering from a severe cold and there is some fear he may not recover in time to oppose the United States or Germany. He caught the cold at LeBourget air field some days ago while awaiting through the night the departure of the French airmen, Coste and Belonte, for a trans-Atlantic flight to America. It settled in his bronchial tubes.

"It is very heavy cold," his father, Jean Lacoste, said tonight, "and Rene will not play unless the doctors permit it." The permission was considered unlikely by the elder Lacoste.

Southworth Tells Cardinals' Woes

Pitching Slump and Injuries to Hafey, Selph and Frisch Cause Drop in Standing.

By Brian Bell
Associated Press Sports Writer.

New York, July 17.—(AP)—Two months ago Billy Southworth, young manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, was in New York in high spirits. The Cardinals were up among the leaders, his veteran pitchers were clicking with almost monotonous regularity, and there did not seem to be a cloud in the baseball sky.

Today Billy, the kid, is again New York, fighting desperately to keep the National league champions out of the second division. To the credit of the freshman manager, he did not lose his high spirits when his team began to skid and he is cheerful as a manager could be after seeing his team win only a bare half dozen of its last 20 games.

"What happened?" he was asked, "poor pitching?"

"Yes, the pitching has been bad," was the reply, "but we have had other troubles, too. The collapse of the pitching was infectious. Weakness in pitching communicates itself to the infield and outfield and the players fail to come up with balls during a pitching slump that they would eat alive when the pitchers are going good."

BAD EFFECT

"When a pitcher is eternally in the hole, the fellows behind him feel uncertain and then, too, they hate to see him humiliated. The first thing you know the whole outfit is up in the air."

"I will say this for our team in this terrible slump, however—the fellows never have quit. They are hustling today just as hard as ever, and I am pretty sure there is some sunshine just around the corner."

"We have had our share of the bad breaks. Frisch, who, by the way, is not suffering from a charleyhorse but a pulled tendon, is missed at second base, and Hafey, another of the main cogs, got hit on the elbow, about the worst place he could have found with which to stop a ball. Selph, an infielder, we finally had to send home with a bad knee."

"But to offset some of these misfortunes, Alexander, who has been sick for a month, is back with us now. He looks great and is ready to go. He will pitch in Boston, our next stop."

Manager Southworth was asked about the ball, the liveliest topic of conversation in major league baseball today.

LIVELY BALL

"Yes, the ball is lively," he said, "but I don't think that the ball is entirely to blame for the hitting, and especially the home runs. In a way it is an necessary before the fact."

"The liveliness of the ball forces the outfielders to play so far back there is much more room for base hits to fall between them and the infielders. The farther back they go to the greater the 'groove' for base hits."

"But in my opinion the real explanation of the hitting is the severe way the pitcher is circumscribed. I would not advocate letting them put emery on the ball or restore the spitball, but I think the umpires might be permitted to discolored the ball, or the umpires could do it."

THE RETURN OF TARZAN No. 34

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

As Tarzan entered the temple, he was distinctly aware of many eyes upon him. He heard a rustling in the shadows. One room had seven pillars and many carved decorations of solid gold. The floor of another was of the precious metal. His warriors huddled together, begging to be taken back to the sunlight, and fearful of dead spirits in this haunted place.

Tarzan laughed, bidding them run back into the fresh air. Some of the warriors obeyed with speed. But Busuli and others hesitated, torn between loyalty for their king and superstitious fear of the unknown. Then, quite unexpectedly, occurred that which decided them. Out of the silence, close by, rang the same hideous shriek they had heard the previous night!

As one man the warriors turned and fled through the empty halls. Tarzan-of-the-Apes stood left alone, a grim smile upon his lips, waiting for the unseen enemy to pounce upon him. But again silence reigned. Then he wheeled and passed on into the very depths of the temple, coming to a rude barred door. Again the shriek of warning rang out almost beside him.

Perhaps beyond lay the secret of the treasure stores! As he placed his shoulder to the door the shrieking was repeated continuously. Before his giant strength, creaking, it swung slowly open. Tarzan, feeling before him with his spear, entered the Stygian gloom. Suddenly the door closed behind him, and at the same time hands clutched him from every direction out of the darkness.

Governors Are Confronted By Problem of Prohibition; Two Resolutions Planned

Wickersham Letter Is Basis of Measures That Will Come Up Today for Discussion.

BY CEDRIC FOSTER,
United News Staff Correspondent.

Eastern Point, Conn., July 17.—(United News.)—Two resolutions touching on the prohibition question and the Wickersham letter proposing a division of responsibility for prohibition enforcement between state and federal governments may precipitate a fight on the liquor question tomorrow, in the conference of governors now meeting here.

After the prohibition question had been successfully avoided throughout today's session, there was a flutter just at adjournment time precipitated by the introduction of a resolution by Governor O. Max Gardner, of North Carolina, endorsing the efforts of President Hoover to eradicate crime. Governor John G. Richards, of South Carolina, had introduced a similar resolution yesterday and had it tabled. He demanded his resolution also be given consideration. Accordingly, both resolutions were read and placed formally before the conference, which referred both of them back to the executive committee.

Both resolutions are expected to be reported out by the committee tomorrow and, unless predictions made by various governors are wrong, the report will throw open to discussion the whole prohibition question.

Wets in Minority.
Governor Albert C. Ritchie, of Maryland, is leader of the wet forces and he and his supporters are determined to prevent the conference going on record on the prohibition question. The wets, however, seem to be in the minority. They rely, however, heavily upon a provision in the by-laws of the conference forbidding formal action upon controversial matters.

Most of the governors continued to be non-committal today upon the proposals of George W. Wickersham, chairman of the president's commission on law enforcement, for the states to take over local prohibition enforcement and the federal government to assume responsibility for prevention of manufacture, importation and transportation of liquor. Governor Ritchie, of Maryland, however, said tonight that he proposes to address the convention tomorrow attacking both the Wickersham letter and the prohibition enforcement in general. Governors Myers, V. Cooper, of Ohio, it was believed, might take cognizance of the Wickersham proposals in his address, also scheduled for tomorrow, the topic of which is "individual attitude toward government."

The resolution endorsing Mr. Hoover's efforts to suppress crime, introduced by Governor Gardner and which also has the endorsement of Governor Harry Byrd of Virginia, reads as follows:

Gardner Resolution.
"Whereas it is the sense of this conference that a more effective suppression of crime is one of the most serious problems at present confronting the country and whereas President Hoover has appointed a commission on law enforcement and the study of crime, which action on the part of the president appears to this conference eminently timely and wise, therefore be it resolved that the conference of governors heartily approves the president's action and enthusiastically pledges and tenders to him and his commission its fullest co-operation and support."

The resolution offered yesterday by Governor Richards, of South Carolina, reads:

"Resolved, that it is the sense of the governors of the United States in convention assembled that the position taken by the president of the United States for the enforcement of civil righteousness generally deserves commendation of all those who have the country's good at heart. Resolved further, that we, the governors of the several states, pledge to the president not only our sympathy but our hearty co-operation in his efforts to promote respect for law and to establish those principles throughout the nation. Resolved, that a copy of this resolution be sent to the president by the secretary of this convention and be spread upon the minutes of this conference of governors of the United States."

Lab Trouble Brought Up.
Today's session was marked by the receipt of a letter from Arthur C. Field Hays, New York attorney, representing the American Civil Liberties Union, protesting the attitude of Governor Richards of South Carolina in the recent textile mill troubles in that state. Letter was turned over to the executive committee for consideration.

Governor Richards told the United News tonight that he would raise no objection to frank discussion by his fellow governors of the charges made in the letter.

Hays charged that union representatives and workers were driven from Carolina towns by armed guards and clubs, particularly the town of Ware Shoals, S. C.

"The letter is based upon false premises," said Governor Richards. "It is true that they left Ware Shoals under guard, but it was by their own request that armed guards accompanied them. They were not run out of the town."

EARLY McDONALD VISIT TO U. S. SEEN

London, July 17.—(AP)—Ramsay MacDonald, prime minister of Great Britain, and Charles G. Dawes, American ambassador, have pushed their informal conversations on naval reconstruction so far that the projected visit of the prime minister to America has become an early probability.

It was learned today that growing out of the meeting between the two statesmen in the premier's private office in the house of commons, a suitable time for the visit is being sought.

Members of the cabinet, recognizing the delicate character of the conversations, have not insisted on eliciting further information from the government. The premier, however, mentioned the subject yesterday at a private meeting of the labor party.

It is understood he intimated that any arrangement for a meeting with President Hoover would naturally be made in Washington and that any definite announcement might make him would be given in parliament. This was interpreted as a promise to give information to the house of commons as there were definite developments.

It also became known that Mr. MacDonald is to make a statement on the full naval disarmament question. V. A. Alexander, first lord of the admiralty, announced this when he was speaking in the house of commons today. He would not say when the statement would be made.

Mr. Alexander also said he was unable to announce any date on which decision would have been formulated as to the future of the great Singapore naval base. A number of important and difficult matters had to be taken into account.

"It is hardly fair to press us for a statement, especially when it is considered that the dominions must be consulted," he concluded.

DAWES IS TERMED ORATORICAL VOLCANO

British Eye Caught by U. S. Ambassador by Colorful Accounts.

London, July 17.—(AP)—Ambassador Dawes today is in the English public eye more spectacularly than ever, with the English press carrying word, highly colored accounts of his appearance yesterday noon at a luncheon at Viner's hall.

He indulged there in a vocal outburst on Anglo-American relations which brought him the characterization "oratorical volcano" in some papers and caused others to revert to his sobriquet, "Hell and Maria."

"Hell and Maria" Dawes roared as if he were on parade ground," the Daily Mail said, "while his audience sat silent. Mesmerized, almost embarrassed, as the crescendo came."

"He shattered the ancient peaceful atmosphere of Viner's hall and kept Lord Derby and Lord Riddell, who sat on either side of him, dodging his crashing fists."

England also was interested in General Dawes' unconventional manner of dressing since he appeared in a function in a grey tropical weight suit while most of the distinguished guests who sat at the speakers' table with him wore the conventional morning attire.

The ambassador "startled his audience," said the Daily Express, which noted that on previous occasions he had confined himself closely to manuscript but came yesterday unprepared. After announcing he had "something to say" he launched into a tirade.

seemed depressed by the double defeat they received at the hands of Premier Poincare and Foreign Minister Briand yesterday.

The premier Edouard Herriot came out in support of the government viewpoint today, while Deputies Chappellain and Jacques Stern, on behalf of the foreign affairs and finance committees, advocated reservations in the text of the ratification bill.

Their stand was in direct opposition to the expressed policy of the government, but it was noted that both spoke with less determination in the open chamber than in secret committee meetings last week.

Perfunctory debate on ratification will continue for two or three days until all the orators listed have spoken.

Premier Poincare remained at home throughout the day, confined to his bed by fatigue. The chief officer of the cabinet told the Associated Press that his absence "was nothing serious, the premier will return to the chamber later when he is needed."

Before adjourning the chamber gave the premier a standing ovation of confidence, defeating a socialist proposal to subordinate adoption of the Young plan to immediate evacuation of Rhineland by a vote of 359 to 228. This was a majority of nearly double that which M. Poincare received yesterday.
